SUCCESS STORIES

f #mitoQ

MITOQ®

“I did not expect immediate changes, but my skin looked more hydrated and slightly less lined after using MitoQ for only a day or two. Other changes occurred slowly over the next few months my age spots lightened, areas of redness lessened, and my skin became firmer and smoother. - M. Ashby

Hi MitoQ, the longer I take this the better I feel, the results accumulate as you regain some energy and health. - Scott

Within the first few days, my niggles and twinges disappeared and more often than not now it is easier to call something to mind. I feel like I'm functioning at normal revs again. - CW

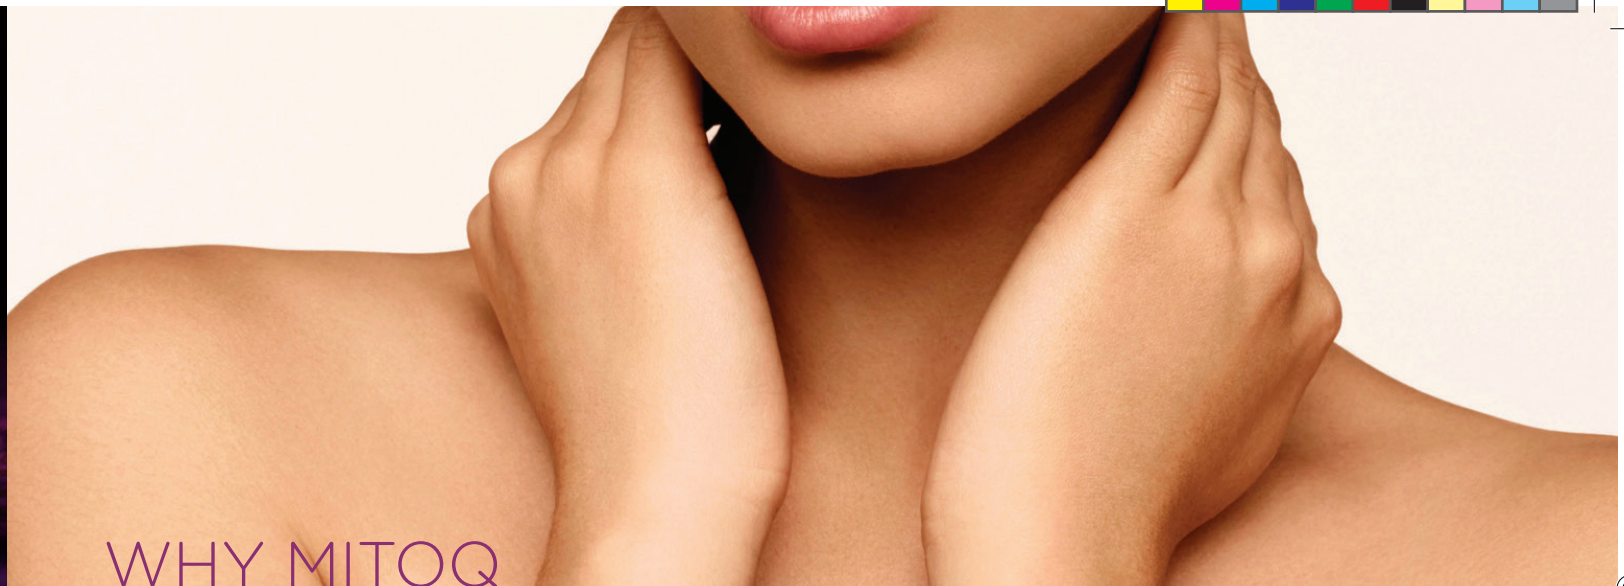

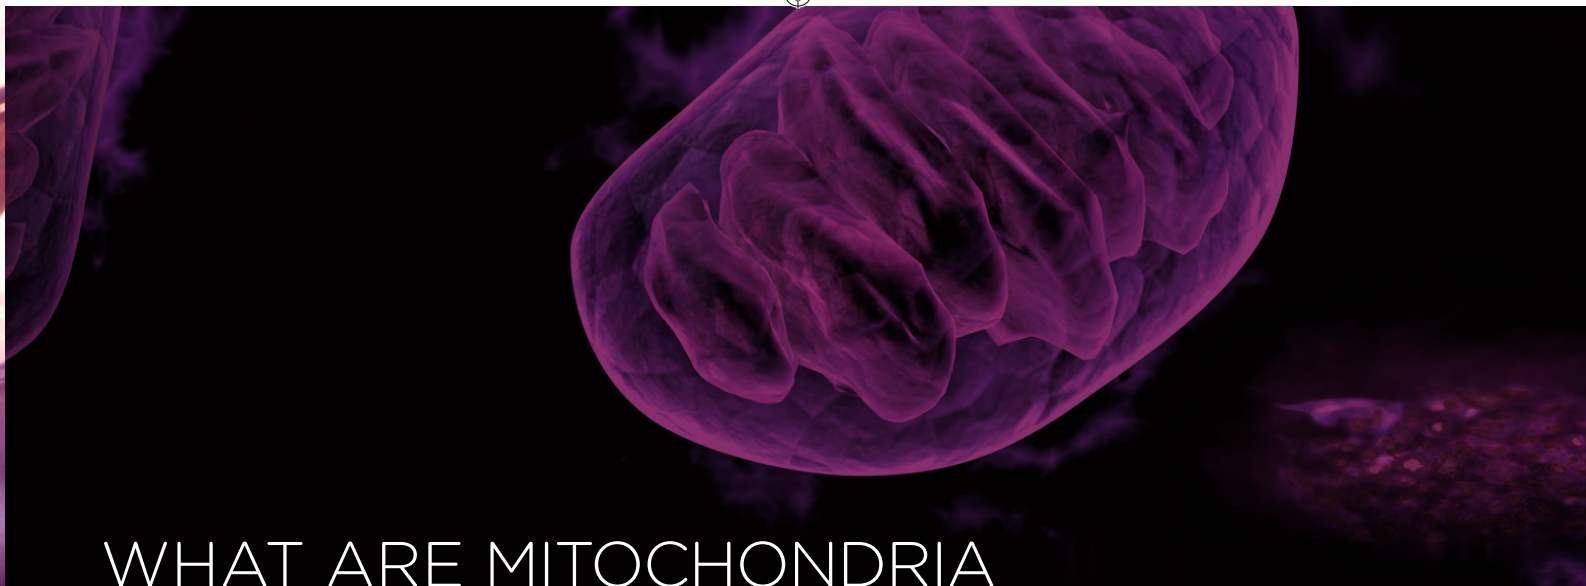

I am a tremendous advocate. I looked good for my age before but now I look younger than my photos over a year ago and my skin is so much better in a short time, it has fewer lines, and is more radiant than it has ever been. - Michelle A.

HOW CAN I GET MORE OF MY OLD ENERGY BACK?

WHEN YOU RE-ENERGISE YOUR CELLS, YOU RECHARGE YOUR LIFE.

Discovered at New Zealand's University of Otago, MitoQ is an exciting NEW type of antioxidant that's backed by over a decade of independent research.

MitoQ is the world's first antioxidant to directly target mitochondria (the body's cellular power source) to support optimal organ health and fight the free radical damage of aging.

The discovery? Simply putting a positive charge on mitochondria's own natural antioxidant: CoQ10. This small change causes MitoQ to literally flood negatively charged mitochondria and restore antioxidant capacity to youthful levels.

Why is that important? Until now no other product has been able to deliver antioxidants to mitochondria.

The effect? Your cells start to act and look younger again. And you start getting some of that energy back.

WHAT ARE MITOCHONDRIA AND WHY MITOQ FOR ENERGY?

Every cell in your body is powered by tiny organelles called mitochondria - also known as your cellular batteries.

Mitochondria convert the food we eat and oxygen we breathe into the energy our cells need to keep our organs functioning optimally and our bodies healthy.

MitoQ, for the first time ever, reduces free radical damage and restores mitochondria function to a level that improves your cells' vitality - so they can fight the causes of ill health and aging, and restore more youthful energy levels.

At a cellular level, mitochondria call the shots, so it's vital to look after them.

WHY MITOQ FOR HEALTHY AGING?

As you age, your mitochondria do too. From the age of twenty, your body's natural antioxidant levels in your mitochondria decline. Your mitochondria can't fight off free radicals as well as they used to, affecting their ability to deliver energy to your cells.

You see it in your skin first as the signs of aging start to appear, but it's affecting your other organs too.

Research shows that MitoQ supports healthy aging by increasing the availability of energy and reducing free radical damage at a cellular level.

Within your skin, MitoQ works to rejuvenate and repair, support youthful collagen and elastin production and reduce the appearance of fine lines, wrinkles and age spots. Helping you to look and feel like your younger self.

Inside your body, MitoQ works the same way to deliver more energy to your organs so that they can do their jobs optimally and keep you healthy.
